Armrests suck, but will help discourage the indigent from setting up camp on cold and rainy days.

As a smaller person, armrests are my best ally in keeping XXXL Americans from slopping into my lap.

What material are they made out of? It should be like a Denny's booth, or something inexpensive to replace, easy to clean & sanitize, and reasonably cushiony.

They're not that great. Narrower, a tiny bit of centering. Armrests (yuk). But they seem to want to choose between armrests and loops on the backs of the chairs.
