Subject: PFSC - Sailing Trip: Teeny Tiny Life Vests

Nice picture Richard!

Alas, I will be unable to join you, as things have been pretty busy. Amelia Gayle Ferry was born 20 days ago, weighing 5 pounds 14 ounces, and measuring 19 inches. We are all doing very well.

We chose Amelia because it combines two aspects of her parents' personalities, and our hopes for her future. The name Amelia is typically cited as a Latin or old German term for industrious, in honor of her hard-working father. Cherie prefers to believe that that Amelia is related to the verb ameliorate, reflecting our hope that we raise our daughter with the values and empathy to improve our world. The name Gayle represents Joy: while we have high aspirations and dreams for Amelia, at the end of the day, what we want most is for our daughter to grow up happy and healthy.

Linked are the requisite pictures of our time together:

<https://plus.google.com/photos/115737240430307203879/albums/5927232090449869937>

My daughter isn't seaworthy (yet), and I don't think you want your celebration to be interrupted by a crying infant or her sleep-deprived mother, so it would be best to sail on without me. I will catch up with you all sometime in 2014!

Directors:

This is to confirm the action plan for a sailing trip on San Francisco Bay.

You will recall that Randy Livingston and I made a bet related to our meeting with the Forest Service Chief last September. My obligation was to provide a sailing trip. Randy's obligation, had he lost, was to host us at his vineyard. Judge Baggett recently ruled that I lost the bet. Hence, I am delighted to offer a sailing trip either on Oct. 12 or Oct.26.

- Point of departure will be Richmond Harbor. We will depart late morning and return by late afternoon.

- I will provide lunch, although I believe that Randy is on the hook for a fudge dessert.

- The boat holds a maximum of 9, including Captain Jack (aka my friend, Ken Finney). While it is ~39-feet in length, it is narrow. Let me know your interest and availability. I will pick the date that works for Randy and otherwise has the most yes's.

- Staff are welcome if space is available. I believe that Allene should attend as the official witness to the bet and as our Executive Director.

- If more directors are interested than can fit, I hope to persuade Captain Jack to offer a second trip.

I will announce the winning date this Wednesday. Please reply before then! RRC

Yes, I am interested. I am available:

Oct. 12 [Y/N]

Oct. 26 [Y/N/]

Thanks! RRC
