Subject: RE: Request for Hourly Electric Usage Data over 1 Year

Good morning [Redacted]

“As a suggestion to help expedite your request, if you and any of the other tenants are enrolled in PG&E’s “My Energy”, you go can go onto each account using “My Energy” and by utilizing the green button, download the necessary data on a month to month basis.”

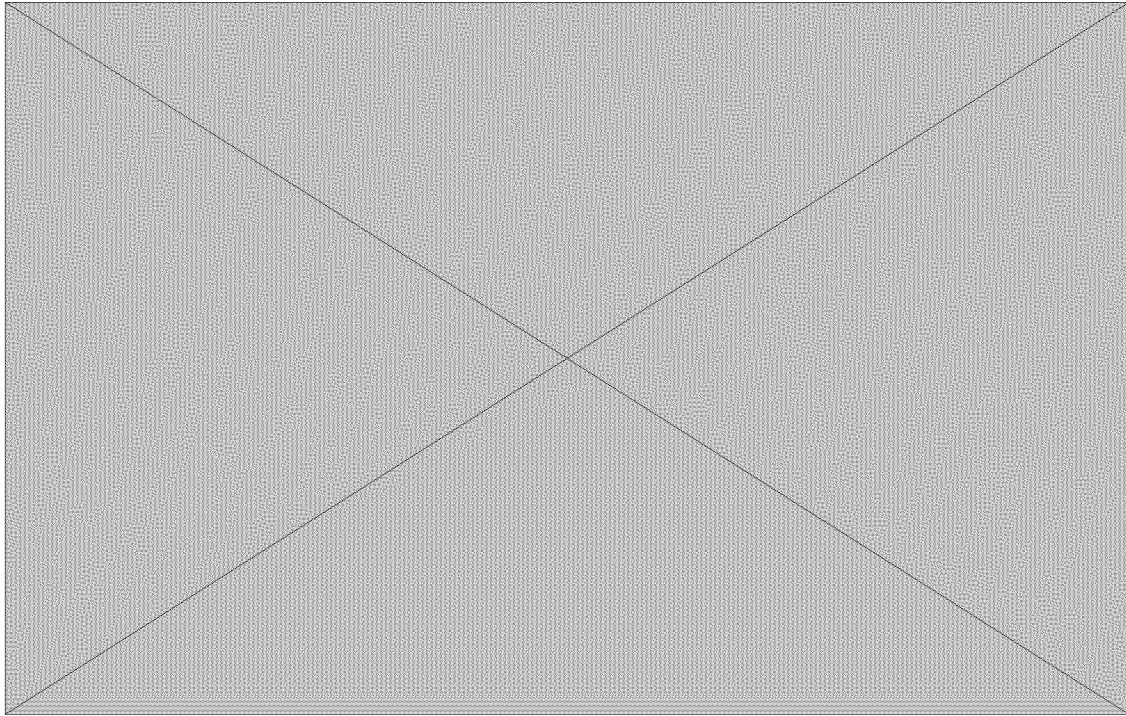

Please advise if this is an option.

Thank you

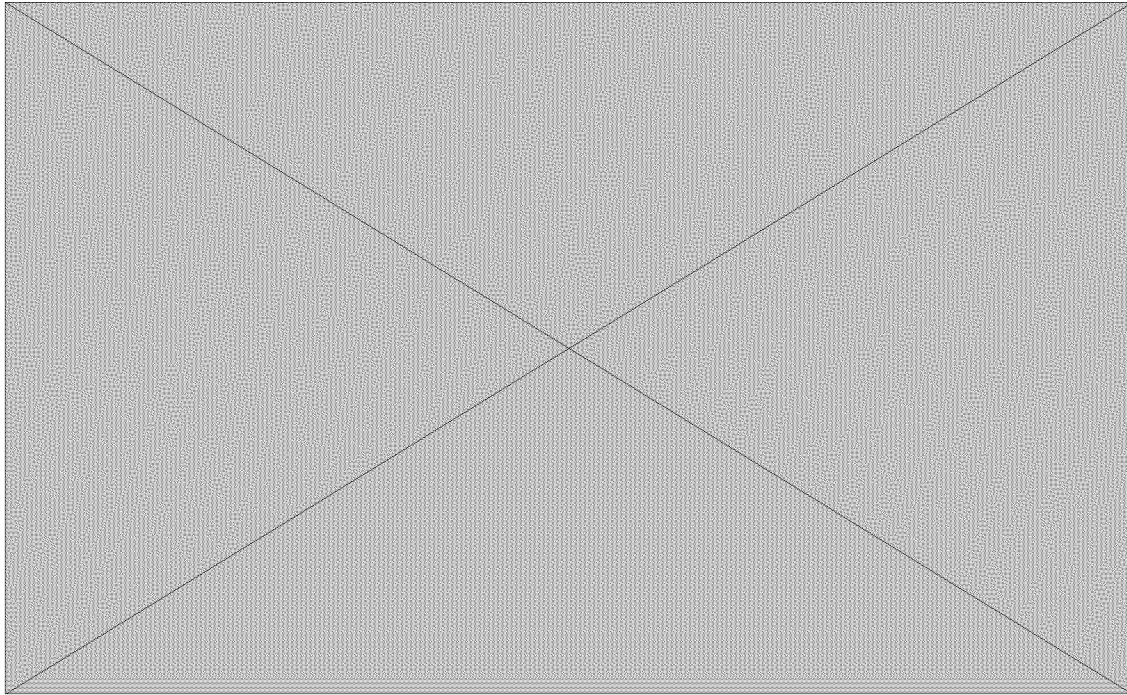

[Redacted]

You are able to get the interval data from the “Green Button”. Here are example screenshots from “My Energy”:

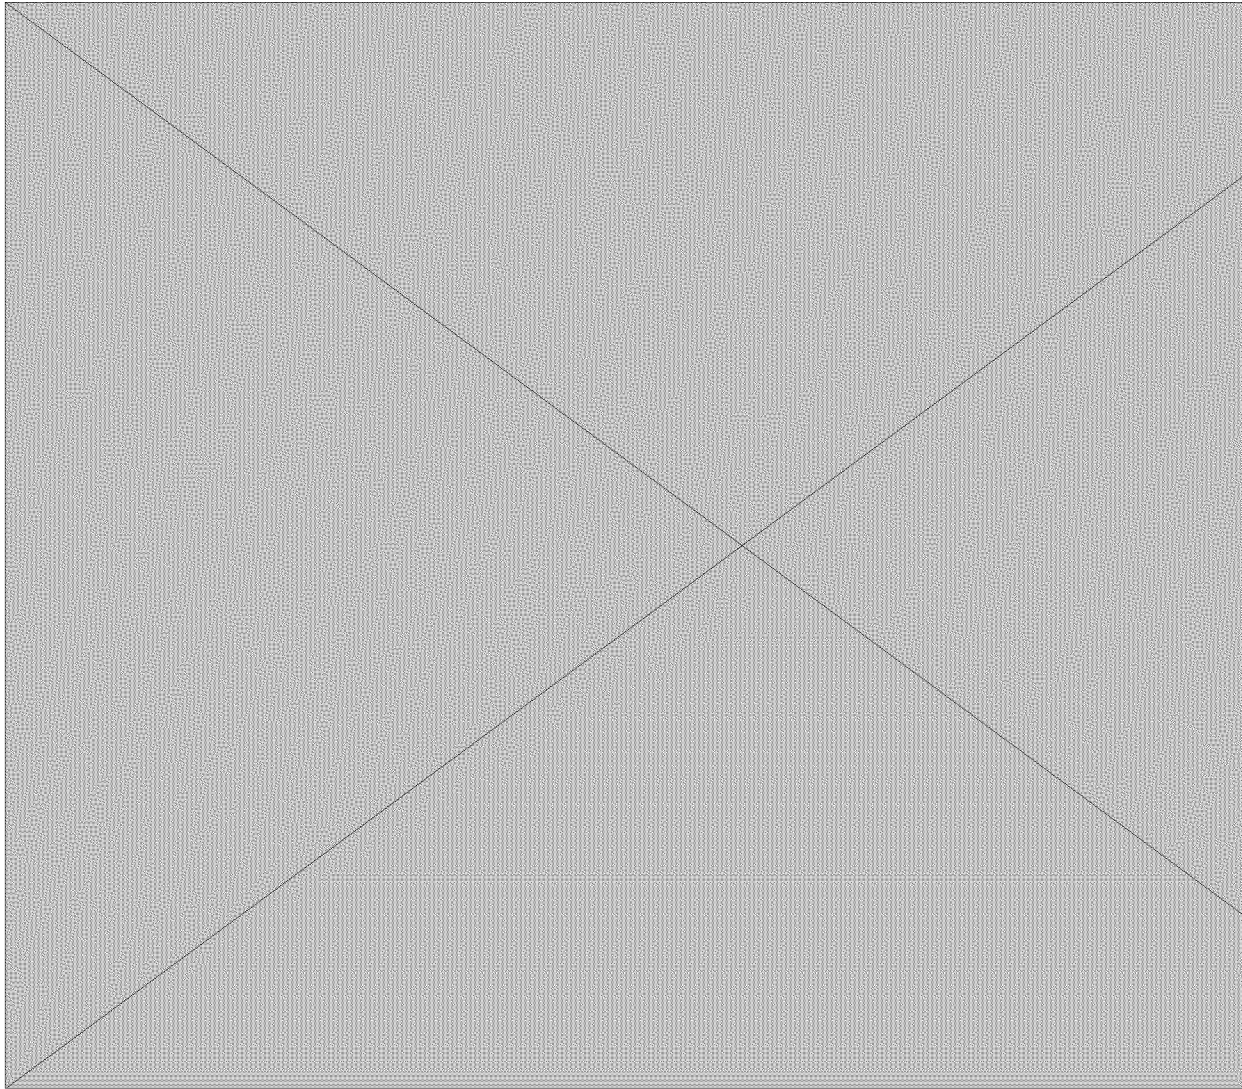

(a) Drop down showing choice of billing periods

(b) Choosing latest month

(c) Screen shot of partial data from Excel Download. Note start time and end time for each hour period.

Subject: Request for Hourly Electric Usage Data over 1 Year

Dear [Redacted]

Thank you for talking with me on Friday afternoon. As we discussed, I have, no doubt, the unusual request of obtaining hourly electric usage data in excel format for the seven electric meters associated with our condominium building over the course of the last year. This will allow us to establish and provide peak hourly demand data to the City (San Francisco).

I know you will need permission from all customers to provide this information so I am cc'ing all my fellow condominium building/ HOA members with the plan that they will each individually send you a brief e-mail note stating that they provide permission for you to e-mail an excel file with their hourly usage over the course of a year to me. Our association is called [Redacted]
