

From: [Redacted]
Sent: 10/15/2013 2:29:00 PM
To: 'cpe@cpuc.ca.gov' (cpe@cpuc.ca.gov)
Cc: [Redacted]
Doll, Laura (/O=PG&E/OU=CORPORATE/CN=RECIPIENTS/CN=LRDD);
[Redacted]
[Redacted]
Bcc:
Subject: Information regarding Stanpac

Eugene,

I hope all is well with you. It has been sometime since we worked on a project together. [Redacted] forwarded me some questions you have regarding Stanpac.

1) Overview/History of Stanpac:

- [Redacted] Originally built as a 127 mile 26" pipeline running from [Redacted] to [Redacted]
- [Redacted] Owned by a non-profit entity providing service to the member entities in accordance with their ownership interest
- [Redacted] The Stanpac pipeline entered service in 1931
- [Redacted] On formation Stanpac was equally owned by PG&E and Chevron
- [Redacted] Over the years, PG&E has acquired parts of the Stanpac pipeline and has increased its membership interest
- [Redacted] Today Stanpac owns the pipeline running from [Redacted] to [Redacted] about 52 miles
- [Redacted] Stanpac is owned 6/7 by PG&E and 1/7 by Chevron

2) Service Tariff

- [Redacted] Stanpac does not serve any customers directly and has no revenue or tariffs

3) System Map, volumes, customers

- An overview system map (attached)
- Volumes in the line are not metered
- The line operates as an integral part of the PG&E system

4) Organization Chart

- Stanpac has no employees
- PG&E is the operator of the line
- The Stanpac board has 3 members from PG&E and one member from Chevron

5) Headquarters

- 77 Beale Street

6) Stanpac employees

- Stanpac has no employees
- PG&E operates the line for Stanpac, as such numerous PG&E employees do work for Stanpac which is charge to Stanpac
- Each owner pays the general cost of operations in proportion to their ownership
- Chevron or PG&E may pay 100% of the cost of new facilities that only provide benefit to one company

7) Agreements

- 1996 Management and Operating Agreement (attached)
- 1998 Amendment (attached)

I will be attending the meeting on November 5th.

Redacted

PG&E – Wholesale Marketing and Business Development

PG&E is committed to protecting our customers' privacy.

To learn more, please visit <http://www.pge.com/about/company/privacy/customer/>