Sure thing Brian. I am copying Mary Ellen Ittner so she can get the info back to you.

By the way, you may have heard that all the weld reinspections that have been done so far (23 as of today as I understand it) have met the standards. That's good news.

Have a good weekend.

Subject: weld verification community outreach

Hi Laura,

Liza shared with me the community outreach report dated 12/6/13 re: the weld verification issue. However, the materials didn't include the actual letters sent to the communities. Can you track that down for me and send over some samples of how you all explained the issue? Also, I'd be interested in what kind of reaction you've been getting – perhaps you can tell me what kind of follow-up questions you've received?

Thanks,

Brian
