

From: Campbell, Michael
Sent: 1/14/2014 9:45:47 AM
To: Dietz, Sidney (/O=PG&E/OU=Corporate/cn=Recipients/cn=SBD4)
Cc:
Bcc:
Subject: RE: quick advice?

Yes. Dealership.

Glad she is okay. Really sucks the swagger van can't make it their on its own power.

Airbags deploy? If so, she still may want to go to doc and get checked out. Neck injuries are odd and very bad.

She should get a massage this week just in case. Foot Spa by my house, on Grand has extremely good rates and Peter, Andy, and Sue are amazing there (Chinese trained massage people).

MC

From: Dietz, Sidney [mailto:SBD4@pge.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 14, 2014 9:40 AM
To: Campbell, Michael
Subject: quick advice?

Renata was just in an accident – she's totally fine. It wasn't her fault. We should get it towed to the most expensive place in the world, the Toyota dealership, right?

PG&E is committed to protecting our customers' privacy.
To learn more, please visit <http://www.pge.com/about/company/privacy/customer/>