Good morning,

Today is quite possibly the saddest day of my life. I send this email out to tell the masses that my BEST Friend in the World has passed away. It is so incredibly hard for me to even imagine writing this email.

So, with an extremely sad and heavy heart I want to let you all know that Frank Evans passed away last night of an apparent heart attack.

As soon as arrangements are made and finalized, I will keep you all posted. After we return from the holiday, I will have condolence cards at the Security Desk and a collection for Frank's family.

Please keep Frank's memory of the kind and giving man that he was in your thoughts, and pray for his family to get through this very difficult time.

With deep sadness, Victor
