CPUC Bikes:

I neglected to copy "CPUC Bikes" on my earlier email below. (Sorry if a few of you may have received this twice.)

If you would like to participate in the Napa ride, minimum amount to contribute is $250. But if you join my team "Bio-Rad," you can raise the first $125 and they will match the remainder.

If you have any questions, please let me know. The Tour de Cure website also provides much helpful information.

Best Regards,

Colette

Dear Family, Friends, and Colleagues:

As some of you know, I am riding in the Napa Valley Tour de Cure Bicycle Ride on May 4, 2014. This American Diabetes Association event is much more than a cycling event to me. It is my opportunity to make a positive impact in the lives of those who are affected by Diabetes.

With your help, I raised over $1000 last year for this worthy cause. This year, I am committed to ride and raise money in this inspirational event not because 26 million people in the United States have diabetes, but because I personally know some of them, and I want to do something about it.

I know my participation in this year's Tour de Cure can and will make a difference. Please help me reach my goal of $750 by supporting me with a donation.

You can follow the link below to my personal webpage to make a secure, 100% tax-deductible, online donation.

Chances are, you also know someone who has been affected by diabetes and you already know how important it is to stop this disease. By making a donation on my behalf or by joining my team, you will be helping the Association provide community-based education programs, protect the rights of people with diabetes and fund critical research for a cure.

This year I am also dedicating my ride to my youngest daughter Catherine Woods who is working towards her doctorate in Neuroscience at New York University. She has a specific research interest in "insulin dysregulation" which is associated not only with Diabetes, but also Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, depression, schizophrenia, and obesity.

Thank you for supporting a very worthwhile cause. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.
