Subject: I did a dress rehearsal of my bicycle commute using the downtown Berkeley parking, and it was not so great. Using the group parking really requires a lock, so I'd have to carry a lock on the ride. I could avoid this by using the valet parking, but I wouldn't be able to get onto BART until after 700a. Then, the ride up was nasty, and I got pretty hot, even though it was cool and cloudy. I am going to try it a few times, but I am less optimistic than I was.
