Poor Terrie! By the way, just bought a polyester towel. Works fine, dries 1000x better. Now, I think I'd prefer a 50/50 blend...

FYI

I used those showers during the bart strike. I'm amazed I didn't get a skin fungus. It has no ventilation and has towels in there that are probably damp for months. In 2003 when I rode to work regularly, I was the only person who used it and it was pretty clean. They got really lackadaisical about letting people leave items in there.

Shower Room Unclaimed Items: A Message From Administrative Services

Business Services is still holding unclaimed articles collected from the shower rooms, but will be disposing of the items if they are not collected by noon on Friday, March 28, 2014.

To claim your articles, please contact Patricia Akers at patricia.akers@cpuc.ca.gov.

Thank you,
