Subject: FW: REGISTRATION OPEN: Highlighting Cross-Sector Partnerships in Preparedness March 13

Ray,

Here is the invite for the event that we discussed last week.

Thanks,

Meredith

Now that you have Saved-the-Date Thursday, March 13, 2014, it's time to Register!

~~~~~

The Federal Executive Board's Emergency Preparedness Working Group and Pacific Gas & Electric have teamed up this year to present another special event: Highlighting Cross-Sector Partnerships in Preparedness: Hayward Earthquake Fault Scenario, this year's annual Emergency Preparedness Training Symposium.

• Come hear about the Bay Area Earthquake Plan, the USGS "HayWired" Project, and Expert Panelists on Health, Transportation, Utilities, Communications (...are we really having Patrick Meier Skype from Qatar- yes we are!!), and Individual and Community Preparedness, while you network among other emergency preparedness professionals.

• 7:30- 8:00 AM Registration, Networking, Continental Breakfast.

• Speaker and Box Lunch.

• Wrap-up 3:00 PM

PG&E will host the no-cost symposium at their state-of-the-art conference center at 245 Market Street in downtown San Francisco. Early response suggests that this event will be well attended, so don't delay registering your emergency preparedness leaders for this outstanding event!

We strongly recommend that you use public transit (or bike or walk) for this downtown San Francisco event. 245 Market is at the corner of Beale and Market Streets (event entrance through PG&E's Beale Street courtyard), at the Embarcadero BART & MUNI stops. But if you need to drive in:

- try this link to find "Financial District" parking and rates <http://sanfrancisco.bestparking.com>
- or try the pilot between the SFMTA and US Dept of Transportation <http://sfpark.org/>
- or use traffic.511.org to Plan your Trip (511.org is a partnership of public agencies).
