The full set of Self Reports by next Friday would be great...then additional detail later is appreciated and perfectly understandable.

Ken

Just tried to call you.

I spoke with Redacted about the self report request. As usual, he set me straight.

I guess I had not realized just how much work had gone into preparing those two previous binders! For each self-report we went well beyond the submittal itself and provided more detailed backup including copies of internal reports and other supporting documentation. It was labor-intensive.

We are now up to 74 self reports, give or take. There are 17 in the two binders you already have, by my count.

We can get you a full set of all our submitted 74 self reports in one binder by next Friday (July 11), but the more detailed supporting info for each one will take longer, and would probably be best delivered in smaller groups over a period of weeks.

Thought I would make sure I understand what you are really looking for.

Thanks Ken.

Laura
