Subject: RE: PG&E's lack of written verification that it has changed its interactions with the CHANGES program, as required by CPUC Executive Director Letter

Thank you Meredith,

I've read the letter and appreciate your response. However there are a few items upon which CSID would like clarification. We can meet over the phone with PG&E this Friday (currently our schedules are open between 1 and 3), or next Tuesday or Wednesday (and currently our schedules are open between 11 to noon, and 1 and 3). However, I suggest we set the meeting soon, since our calendars frequently change and we are all eager to resolve this, as I'm sure you are.

For your information, the following are our initial comments upon which we would like to hear your solutions /clarification:

1. Previously you had mentioned that when the customer is not present, and you need a written authorization, there could be a two business day lag between receiving the document and processing it (and during that lag time, you would not permit the CBO to handle issues on the customer's behalf). CSID needs to know your solution to permitting the CBO to handle the issue during the two day lag, when the issue needs swift handling.
2. You mention you will contact the CBOs by Aug 29 to let them know of the change. When we developed the program, PG&E agreed that its contact would be with the contractor, Self-Help for the Elderly (SHE), or its lead agent, Milestone Consulting. Since the CBOs are subcontractors of SHE, please confirm that you will advise SHE or Milestone Consulting of the change. In turn, they will contact the CBOs.
3. Thank you for confirming that you will resume over the phone authorization when the call is made to the CHANGES 800 number. When we last met, PG&E advised that the CHANGES 800 number merely registers a call and then relays it into you call center system. For CSID's information, please clarify how your customer service representative will know that the call is coming from the CHANGES 800 number?

Thank you

Karen,

Please find attached PG&E's written verification. I sincerely apologize that we missed the deadline.

Please let us know if you would like to discuss.

Best regards,
Meredith

Karen - please accept my apologies and accept this email as written verification that we have adjusted our process per the letter. We have had difficulty today in drafting an appropriate response and did not complete the letter in time. A letter will be delivered to the Commission tomorrow morning before noon outlying out compliance

Dear Mr. Cherry,

The attached CPUC Executive Director Letter to PG&E was sent to PG&E via email and regular mail on August 21, 2014. In this letter, the CPUC Executive Director stated their concern that PG&E had changed its process in how it interacts with low-English proficient customers, through CHANGES CBOs. In this letter, the CPUC Executive Director directs PG&E to resume the prior practice it had with the CHANGES contractors and its subcontractors, permitting CHANGES CBOs to negotiate directly with PG&E's customer service staff on behalf of the customers who have engaged CBOs for assistance, regardless of whether a signed authorization form is on file, if the customer verbally authorizes such communication.

In this letter, the CPUC Executive Director specifically directs that, "The correction of PG&E's process shall be implemented immediately. Please provide written verification to CHANGES Project Manager Kyle DeVine that PG&E has informed its staff of these requirements by August 25, 2014."

As of close of business today, Kyle DeVine has not received written verification of any type from PG&E. Rather, Ms. DeVine has only received a telephone call from a Mr. Alan Fernandez Smith, who is not known to the Public Advisor's Office, requesting that Ms. DeVine discuss this issue "informally." The issuance of a CPUC Executive Director Letter is not an "informal" process. The letter was not requesting an "informal" discussion on this issue. The letter provided specific direction to PG&E that it shall change its process in how it interacts with the CHANGES Contractor and its Subcontractors. The letter directed that written verification of the implementation of these requirements be sent to Ms. DeVine today. We expect that the written verification will be provided as directed, with due haste.

Sincerely,

Karen Miller
