NOTICE OF PUBLIC PARTICIPATION HEARINGS REGARDING PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY'S 2015 GAS TRANSMISSION AND STORAGE REQUEST (A.13-12-012)

The California Public Utilities Commission would like to hear from you.

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) will hold a series of Public Participation Hearings (PPHs) to hear your comments about Pacific Gas and Electric Company's request to increase its Gas Transmission and Storage rates, effective January 1, 2015. The PPHs will be held in various locations throughout PG&E's service area. Details of locations, dates and times are noted below.

PG&E is requesting a revenue requirement increase of $555 million for 2015 over the currently authorized level for 2014 of $731 million for a total of $1.286 billion. PG&E also requests additional base revenue requirement increases of $61 million for 2016 and $168 million for 2017. The application requests that the CPUC authorize the increase to maintain and further modernize PG&E's gas transmission system.

Background on the 2015 GT&S Rate Case

PG&E proposes to allocate costs to each customer class for operation of transmission and storage. PG&E will use the requested revenue to improve PG&E's gas transmission and storage system, in accordance with Senate Bill 705, which governs California's new gas safety standards for all pipeline operators.

PG&E's comprehensive safety plan includes:

- Replacing older pipelines that could pose risks in case of land movement.
- Continuing to test pipelines that have not previously been strength tested.
- Continuing to control deterioration to avoid underground leaks.
- Installing more automated safety valves that quickly turn off the flow of gas in an emergency.
- Inspecting the interior of more pipelines to spot hidden flaws.
- Lessening the risks associated with pipelines close to levee and water crossings.
- Maintaining underground gas storage facilities that help PG&E meet peak-hour demand.
- Modernizing infrastructure control systems, databases and risk analysis programs.

If the request is approved, gas rates will increase effective January 1, 2015. A residential customer using the system-wide average of 34 therms per month would see a monthly gas bill increase of $5.23 (or 12.6 percent), from $41.53 to $46.76. A small business customer using 284 therms per month would see a gas bill increase of $42.50 (or 16 percent), from $266.15 to $308.65. Since this estimate is based on an average, individual customers' bills will differ. Non-core customers may also see increases in their transportation rates. A detailed chart illustrating the revenue impact by customer class was provided to customers with the December bill.

Public Participation Hearings

The hearings are held to give the public a chance to express their opinion on the proposed increase before the CPUC. The PPHs will be presided over by a CPUC Administrative Law Judge. One or more CPUC Commissioners may be present, but no formal action on the proceeding will be taken at the PPH. The CPUC Public Advisor's staff will be available to answer questions about the CPUC process. Customer service representatives from PG&E will also be there to assist with individual customer billing or service concerns.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC PARTICIPATION HEARINGS
REGARDING PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY'S
2015 GAS TRANSMISSION AND STORAGE REQUEST
(A.13-12-012)

The California Public Utilities Commission would like to hear from you.

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) will hold a series of Public Participation Hearings (PPHs) to hear your comments about Pacific Gas and Electric Company's request to increase its Gas Transmission and Storage rates, effective January 1, 2015. The PPHs will be held in various locations throughout PG&E's service area. Details of locations, dates and times are noted on back.

PG&E is requesting a revenue requirement increase of $555 million for 2015 over the currently authorized level for 2014 of $731 million for a total of $1.286 billion. PG&E also requests additional base revenue requirement increases of $61 million for 2016 and $168 million for 2017. The application requests that the CPUC authorize the increase to maintain and further modernize PG&E's gas transmission system.

Background on the 2015 GT&S Rate Case

PG&E proposes to allocate costs to each customer class for operation of transmission and storage.
