1/25/99 A98-05-001 Pacific Gas and Electric Company, for approval of demand-side management shareholder incentives for 1997 program year accomplishments, and second claim for incentives for 1996 program year accomplishments.

Summary: On January 20, 1999, Robert McLennan, attorney for Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), had a telephone conversation with ALJ Gottstein. Referring to the differences in shareholder incentive claim figures shown in Exhibit 29 and Exhibit 31 filed in the proceeding, McLennan explained that both numbers are correct. McLennan stated that the $641,000 reflects the total difference between PG&E's and the Office of Ratepayer Advocates' (ORA) recommendations for the lifecycle earnings over the four earning claims, while the $160,000 reflects the difference between PG&E's and ORA's recommendations for the first earning claim, which comprises 25% of the total lifecycle earnings.

1/25/99 A98-05-014 Southern California Edison Company, to report on the valuation process for certain generation-related assets pursuant to D97-11-074.

Summary: On January 21, 1999, James Scarff, attorney for the Office of Ratepayer Advocates' (ORA), met with Michelle Cooke, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, in San Francisco. Page 7 of Southern California Edison Company's (Edison) testimony (attached to the notice) was used. Scarff stated that Edison, like Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), intended to offer its hydroelectric generating assets to one of Edison's affiliates at an appraised price - an offer that Edison did not intend to make available to any other competing firm. Scarff noted that Edison's proposal differs from PG&E's in only minor details - Edison's insertion of its own review of the Commission's adopted appraisal principles prior to determining whether to go ahead with an appraisal, and the operation of any auction if Edison decides not to transfer the hydro assets to an affiliate at the appraised price. Scarff stated that ORA's position is that preferential offers such as Edison's violate the Commission's Affiliate Transaction Rules and that it is ORA's position that Edison's filing of a subsequent Section 851 application would not correct this problem.

1/26/99 A98-07-007 Pacific Gas and Electric Company, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct the Northeast San Jose Transmission Reinforcement Project.

Summary: On January 21, 1999, Robert Bonderud, land project analyst, Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), met with ALJ Gottstein during a tour of a prospective substation site for PG&E's proposed Northeast San Jose Transmission Reinforcement Project. Also present were: Judith Ekle, project manager, and Susan Lee of Aspen Environmental Group, consultant to, the Energy Division; and Charles Lewis, attorney, and Tom Marki, project manager, PG&E. A map titled, "Figure 2-9: alternative and proposed transmission line routes and substation sites" and an aerial photograph titled, "Figure A: proposed and alternative transmission lines, power lines, and substation sites," (both attached to the notice) were used. Bonderud discussed the route of PG&E's planned transmission line to serve a proposed substation in the San Jose area. Bonderud and Marki explained the types of transmission towers that might be used for the various alternatives. Boderud and Marki showed the group the property that PG&E proposes to acquire for the new substation as well as one of the alternative sites. Lewis explained how PG&E acquires land and land rights for its facilities and how PP&E compensates the land owners for those rights. Bonderud, Marki and Lewis discussed the procedures for installing underground 230kV circuits through urban areas and explained why the installation of underground transmission lines are disruptive to neighborhoods and more costly than equivalent overhead lines.

1/26/99 A98-11-023 Pacific Gas and Electric Company, to establish performance-based ratemaking for electric and gas utility distribution service effective January 1, 2000.

Summary: LATE FILED. On January 14, 1999, Peter Hanschen, representing Agricultural Energy Consumer Association, met with Michelle Cooke, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, in San Francisco. Also present were: Michael Day, representing Enron Energy Services, Inc. and Enron Capital and Trade Resources Corp.; and Jason Zeller and Bill Gibson representing the Office of Ratepayer Advocates (ORA). Hanschen joined with Day in urging the Commission to remove the distribution competition issues from Pacific Gas and Electric Company's (PG&E) performance based ratemaking (PBR) proceeding. Hanschen stated that distribution competition issues include PG&E's recommendation that anti-bypass rates be approved as part of PG&E's PBR proposal. Day and Hanschen recommended that the distribution competition issues be addressed in R98-12-015. ORA supported moving the distribution competition issues to another proceeding, possibly, PG&E's Phase 2 general rate case.
