10/15/99	A99-01-016	Pacific Gas and Electric Company, for authority to establish post-transition period electric ratemaking mechanisms.
	A99-01-019	San Diego Gas & Electric Company, for authority to implement post rate freeze ratemaking mechanism.
	A99-01-034	Southern California Edison Company, to propose a method to determine and implement the end of the rate freeze; and propose ratemaking mechanisms which should be in place after the end of the rate freeze period.

Summary: On October 13, 1999, Jason Zeller, Counsel, of the Office of the Ratepayer Advocates (ORA), met with Cmmr. Hyatt, and Cmmr. Nepper, and his advisor David Gamson in two separate meetings, in San Francisco. Also present in both meetings was Robert Finkelstein, Counsel for The Utility Reform Network. ORA stated at the meeting that the proposed decision in Phase I of the Post Transition Ratemaking Proceeding had correctly rejected Pacific Gas and Electric Company's (PG&E) position that the Incremental Cost Incentive Price (ICIP) should be continued to the end of the statutory transition period even if PG&E's rate freeze ends before the end of March 2002. As the decision correctly noted, ORA stated that PG&E itself proposed tying the end of the ICIP period to the end of the rate freeze in the application that led to D.97-05-088. ORA noted that from a public policy perspective, the Commission should not continue to subsidize the operation of the Diablo Canyon Nuclear Plan by the payment of above-market prices for the electricity produced by the plant. ORA further noted that the plant should be able to recover its on-going operating costs by selling its output to the power exchange similar to other power plants that do not have special incentive payment mechanisms. ORA noted that the decision's reliance on interim valuation as vehicle to estimate the value of PG&E's remaining generation assets is appropriate and will aid in the development of the competitive market in California. ORA commented on PG&E's request to have a non-transition carry-over costs be recovered after the end of the rate freeze. ORA stated that PG&E had expressed concern about its alleged inability to recoup the cost of restoring its system if a major earthquake hit its system before the end of rate freeze.

10/18/99	A96-03-031	Southern California Gas Company, for authority to revise its rates effective 1/1/97, in its Biennial Cost Allocation Proceeding, for a total reduction in annual revenue of approximately $147.9 million (5.7%) and
	A96-04-030	San Diego Gas & Electric Company, for authority to revise its rates effective January 1, 1997 in its Biennial Cost Allocation Proceeding for an approximately $42 million decrease over presently authorized revenues.

Summary: On October 13, 1999, Kimberly Freeman, State Regulatory Relations Administrator, for Sempra Energy (Sempra), met with Michelle Cooke, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, in San Francisco. Also present were Steve Rahon, Regulatory Case Manager, for Sempra; and Lad Lorenz, Director of Capacity and Operations, Planning, for Southern California Gas Company. Rahon urged the Commission to consider four changes to the proposed decision (PD) of ALJ Gottstein. First, the El Paso surcharge from capacity relinquishments related to Pacific Gas and Electric Company and others should be allocated on the basis of the Core Market's El Paso reservation capacity. Second, the El Paso settlement refund should be allocated consistent with the El Paso surcharges. Third, the Year 2000 and 2001 Transwestern surcharges of $14 Million should be excluded from the proposed cost shift and recorded to the Interstate Transition Cost Surcharge Account when incurred. Fourth, the El Paso interstate pipeline credits should be allocated on the same basis as the El Paso surcharges. Rahon noted that the allocation methodology for the El Paso interstate pipeline credits is not opposed by any party. Finally, Lorenz concluded that adoption of the PD, as currently written, would effectively penalize Sempra's shareholders for taking steps to solve an industry problem of interstate capacity surplus. Copies of the written materials was provided and attached to the notice.

Summary: On October 14, 1999, Jana Corey, Director, Regulatory Relations, for Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), had a telephone communication with Michelle Cooke, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, in San Francisco. Also present during the telephone call was Chris McManus, Manager, Revenue Requirements, for PG&E. McManus stated that PG&E is concerned about the language on pages 13-15 of the proposed decision (PD) that suggests a limit to the non-transition costs that can be carried over beyond the end of the rate freeze. McManus further stated that PG&E believes that transition costs cannot be carried over beyond the end of the of the rate freeze. McManus cited examples of non-transition cost accounts that might be precluded given the vagueness of the language in the PD. McManus further stated that if the Commission intends for the utilities to recover these types of ongoing costs, then the language in the PD should be clarified.

Summary: On October 13, 1999, Robert Finkelstein, staff attorney for The Utility Reform Network (TURN), wrote a letter (attached to the notice) to Cmmr. Wood, in San Francisco. A copy of the letter was also sent to Kevin Coughlan, advisor to Cmmr. Wood. In the letter, TURN first responded to Pacific Gas and Electric Company's (PG&E) position on whether the Incremental Pricing Incentive Mechanism (ICIP) for Diablo Canyon was intended to be in place through 2001, or if it should terminate whenever the rate freeze terminates. Finkelstein pointed out that the language of the decision consistently links PG&E's recovery of ICIP prices for Diablo Canyon output to the period of stranded cost recovery, and not to a five-year period. Finkelstein also pointed out that PG&E's reliance on the Restructuring Rate Settlement (RRS) is questionable at best, since the document itself states that "Power from Diablo Canyon would be priced at market no later than January, 2002." Finkelstein stated that the Commission should interpret the express language of the RRS as either undermining PG&E's current position, or as inherently contradictory and therefore as no help in the resolution of anyone's intent on the issue. Finkelstein addressed the utilities' arguments for allowing carry over of costs incurred during the rate freeze so that they might be collected after the rate freeze has ended. In addition, during the meeting with Cmmr. Hyatt, Finkelstein concluded that to the extent the terms of Assembly Bill 1890 constitute a "deal" between the utilities, the legislature, the Commission, and other interested parties, it was important to enforce that "deal" in a fair manner. Therefore, Finkelstein urged to support the PD as drafted in this issue. Finally, Finkelstein addressed the allocation of the "ongoing" CTC for certain categories of uneconomic costs that will continue to be collected after the rate freeze ends. Finkelstein noted in his letter that the general thrust of the Phase 1 PD is to deter final resolution of the issue to Phase 2, and stated that TURN did not object to the outcome. Finkelstein urged that the words "and afterward" be dropped from Finding of Fact 11.

Summary: On October 13, 1999, Melissa Waksman, Director, Regulatory Affairs for NEXTLINK California, Inc. (NEXTLINK), left a voicemail message to Kim Malcolm, advisor to Cmmr. Hyatt. On the voicemail message, Waksman explained that GTEC has consistently refused to provide NEXTLINK with DS1's as unbundled elements (UNE), and will only provide such circuits as retail tariff offerings at prices far in excess of UNE-based pricing. Waksman stated that GTEC's blatant violation of its legal obligations is evidence that it is not appropriate to grant GTEC interim pricing flexibility at the present time.
